

About the AAIA

Created over 40 years ago, the Allergy/Asthma Information Association (AAIA) is a member-based registered charity with a national office in Toronto and regional offices across Canada.

Our mission:

To develop societal awareness of the seriousness of allergic disease, including asthma, and to enable allergic individuals, their families and caregivers to increase control over allergy symptoms by providing leadership in information, education and advocacy...

Our programs and activities:

- Newsletters, brochures and other publications
Information and support by phone, e-mail and Web site
Community support groups
Workshops, seminars and conferences
Nationwide training with the AAIA Asthma Reference Kit and the AAIA Anaphylaxis Reference Kit
Special events and activities
Public education and media relations
Representation on key government and industry study groups and committees

Volunteers are the heart and soul of the AAIA!

Volunteer because:

- You believe in our cause.
You or your children are personally affected by allergy, asthma or anaphylaxis.
You want to put your experience to good use.
You want to explore your own strengths.
You would like to develop new skills.

Our commitment to you:

- We will do our best to offer volunteering opportunities to match your expectations and interests.
We will provide you with information, orientation and support, starting with the AAIA Volunteer Handbook.
We will make every effort to make volunteering an enriching experience.

According to Health Canada, "AAIA is the best (or most popular) Canadian resource. It appears to be one of the few organizations that deals with the majority of allergy issues and not just one specific element." Source: Canadian Health Network (CHN) Resource Mapping Report: Allergies, Oct. '99
